The Balance Beam is a deceptively simple challenge activity for any age group, from toddlers to adults. You can create a route with a series of beams so it varies in direction and height. And it can be any length depending on the degree of challenge you wish to present the users.

This is an excellent, inexpensive play and learning element that helps people of all ages with their physical fitness, and honing their skills of balance and agility, all of which helps them gain confidence with heights, body positioning, eye muscle coordination, and so on.

This is a must-have item on any playground, challenge course, fitness course, or agility training course. Make sure to specify the age group, as height and length of run will differ. Installation instructions included.

The images show a raised installation (you'd have to provide your own longer legs to do this), but usually the 6" wide beam is mounted right on the ground.

A 6' fall zone might be required all around it...
