This is a simple but very challenging mud run element.

Whether you can keep hold of the log depends on your arm, chest, and leg strength, so for people who are physically challenged, this could be a really difficult course element.

It's very motivating to have people next to you trying to reach the end before you!

We have a small version for children, and a larger version for adults, so we can make this any size.

Comes as a kit that can be installed permanently or as a temporary item. Complete installations instructions are included.

For schools and public playgrounds, a fall zone would be required.
